HAIR DRESSER ADMITS PART IN ROBBERY

Disguises Himself As Clergyman To Loot Chicago Bank

Chicago, Feb. 10.—(P)—A handsome and wavy-haired Donald Brower, 29, admitted today, long enough to disguise himself in a clergyman's round collar and lead Saturday's $2,300 raid on the Oak Lawn Trust and Savings Bank.

Brower was arrested early in the day by Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state attorney's police, who found him cowering beneath a bed in a room in a north side home, a .38 calibre revolver in his hand. Brower made no attempt to shoot.

Between munches of a sandwich in State's Attorney Thomas Courtney's office, Brower admitted his part in the robbery. Lieut. Kelly said, explaining that he had simply reversed a black smock he used in the hair-dressing business to simulate a clerical coat. His round collar was a conventional one, put on backwards.

"We knew we had to use a trick to get into the bank because the front door was kept locked and controlled electrically by a clerk inside."

"Outside the bank I met two nuns. They nodded to me, and I nodded back. When I reached the door the buzzer sounded and I was admitted. The clerk said: 'I'll wait on you shortly, Father.'"

"I gave him $10 to change, then held him up with a revolver and pushed the button to admit Adams. (William 'Bill' the Greek, Adams, also under arrest.)"

"I gathered up the money and filled a cardboard box with silver, then we beat it for the car. In the street a policeman shot at us, but missed. We drove to my place and split the money four ways."

Brower said the robbery was his first job. Adams and a third man, James Larnet, who drove the get-away car, were identified as parole convicts. The identity of the fourth robber is known, Kelly said, and a search for him is underway.

WOMAN AND HER REPUTED LOVER ARE CONVICTED

Marguerite Dolbow, Norman Driscoll To Die In Chair

Salem, N. J., Feb. 10.—(P)—A jury of ten men and two women tonight convicted Mrs. Marguerite Fox Dolbow and Norman Driscoll, her reputed lover, of first degree murder in the slaying of Harry Y. Dolbow, the woman's husband. The jury did not recommend mercy, making the death sentence mandatory.

The case went to the jury at 3:30 p. m. in eastern standard time, and the verdict was returned at 10:45 p. m.

Lawyers for Mrs. Dolbow, 29-year-old former school-teacher, had asked that she be given life imprisonment, if a murder verdict were returned against her and Driscoll.

Judge Frank E. Neitzke sentenced them to die the week of March 15. Unless she is granted clemency or appeals the verdict successfully, Mrs. Dolbow will be the first woman to die in the electric chair in New Jersey.

The trial began on Jan. 27 in the century-old Salem County court house. Mrs. Dolbow and Driscoll were charged with the slaying of Harry Y. Dolbow in his barnyard the night of Aug. 2 last.

Early in the trial the state introduced in evidence a statement purported to have been made by Mrs. Dolbow but unsigned, in which she admitted she planned the killing of her husband, with Driscoll. She later repudiated the statement.

Driscoll also denied guilt in the slaying, although Wilbert Drummond, Dolbow's Negro farmhand, testified for the state he was present when Driscoll hit Dolbow with an axe, and helped him hide the body in the barn while Mrs. Dolbow held a flashlight to show the way.

Two Americans Are Kidnaped

Mexico City, Feb. 10.—(P)—The American embassy received a report tonight that bandits kidnaped two Americans today from the offices of the Amparo Mine company in El Estero, Jalisco.

George H. Winter, American consul at Guadalupe, reported that the Americans were Samuel C. Saneus and Paul W. Avery.

He said they were seized by men who stormed the American mine property at El Estero this morning. The bandits, the consul reported, fled into the hills with the Americans and a quantity of money they took from the offices of the mine.

Another American employee, named Cockburn, was said to have organized a rescue party.

Military authorities in Jalisco sent troops to free the Americans, the report said.

MINER SUICIDES

Hillsboro, Ill., Feb. 10.—(P)—Jerry Darda, 36, coal miner, was found dead today hanging by his leather belt to a water pipe in the basement of his home. He had been in ill health. Darda's widow and two children survive.

Huge Army of Shovelers Swings Into Mass-Scale Attack on Snowdrifts

Chicago, Feb. 10.—(P)—A huge army of shovelers swung into a mass-scale attack on the drifts clogging the midwest's arteries of travel today.

They labored in boreal cold to reach snowbound communities and isolated homes. They worked against time to restore railroad facilities and to clear highways for the movement of badly needed supplies of coal, meat and milk.

At least 25 Minnesota hamlets, dozens of Wisconsin settlements and others in Michigan, Utah, Illinois and the Dakotas were still cut off by the drifts. Dakota ranchers were forced to burn fence posts and hay bales to clear paths through the snow. Twelve feet of snow smothered commerce in Watertown, S. D. There has been no communication with Marquette, S. D., for 200 miles. The Black Hills, since last Monday, a searching party strove to reach them.

Nearly normal operations were resumed on most rail systems, but many roads remained blocked by snow hummocks ranging 7 to 30 feet in height. Snow plows and double locomotives dug into the barrier raised by a blizzard that at some points was fugged as the worst since 1886.

Transportation of food and fuel was the first concern. Chicago faced a serious milk shortage. Some dairies supplied only hospitals. There were no regular deliveries in Des Moines. Iowa City dairymen reduced their allotment by 50 per cent. In other Iowa towns the fuel was given only to families with children. Fort Dodge ran short of meat.

Henry, Bureau and Stark counties in Illinois were low on milk. The rural areas of southern Minnesota were pressed for provisions. Sleds and hand-drawn toboggans brought food to snow locked homes.

Lack of adequate fuel was widespread. Many households were without coal in temperatures that ranged down to 25 below zero. Mayor R. S. Pollard ordered schools, churches and public meeting places in Columbia, Mo., closed for a week. Coal was rationed at Moline, Ottawa and Bureau counties, Ill. It was carefully doled out in many southern Minnesota communities and in Yankton, Mitchell and Sioux Falls, S. D. The University of South Dakota and innumerable schools in the midwest closed. The bituminous coal commission at Washington warned it would fix maximum prices if necessary to protect consumers. R. J. Wilcoxson, president of the Illinois Coal Producers Association, said many towns were without fuel and mines were deluged with orders.

7 AMERICANS PRISONERS OF CORRUPT CHIEF

Are Held By Ethiopian In Filthy Native Hut

London, Feb. 11.—(Tuesday)—(P)—The News Chronicle, in a dispatch from its correspondent at Djibouti, French Somaliland, said today that seven Americans and a Canadian were prisoners of a corrupt Ethiopian chief in the province of Gamo.

The newspaper's correspondent, Stuart Emery, said the Americans captives were Rev. Harold Street, Mrs. Street, their four children, and a Miss Bray, described as an American nurse.

The Canadian was said to be John Trewin.

The dispatch said all the prisoners were members of the Sudan Interior Mission.

The News Chronicle's correspondent said that the Rev. Mr. Street and Trewin had been in a filthy native hut which served as a prison in Chencha, capital of Gamo province. The women and children were reported held under a strong guard at a mission station at Shama, 50 miles south of Chencha.

It was said that they were arrested Jan. 27 by Pilaourai Giza Shawin, a lieutenant of Dedjazmach Beyenemer, governor of the province who is now at the front.

Soldiers, it was stated, ordered the men to mount mules and ride to Chencha, where they were thrown into a cell with chains fastened to their legs.

The women and children were ordered not to leave the mission station, the dispatch said.

No explanation was given for the arrests, it was stated, although there were hints that money could buy the liberty of the captives.

Fisherman Walks Across Ice; Two Companions Die

Clayton Brown Decides He Would Rather Perish While On Move

Harbor Springs, Mich., Feb. 10.—(P)—Clayton Brown, 25-year-old Charlevoix fisherman, lost with two others since their boat was swept into Lake Michigan Saturday, walked into an Indian cabin at Goodhart, isolated fishing village tonight.

Brown told Walter George, the Indian whose cabin he reached, badly frozen and semi-conscious, that his father-in-law, Claude Bourdieu, 51, and Earl Cunningham, coastguardsman, were dead in the rowboat in which they drifted from Charlevoix.

The boat lodged against an ice floe seven miles off shore early today, Brown said, and he spent the entire day working his way across the ice.

A storekeeper at Goodhart said George's cabin was on the lake shore beneath a high bluff, and it would be impossible to move Brown without aid.

A coast guard crew from the Charlevoix station was reported on its way here to bring in the boat.

Brown said one of the men died Sunday night and the other just before he started across the ice. "I decided I'd rather die walking," he was quoted as saying.

American Fleet In Battle Exercises

San Pedro, Calif., Feb. 10.—(P)—The United States fleet moved out today for battle exercises clothed in greater secrecy than any past movements of the nation's sea defenders.

The exercises will continue five days off Southern California. Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, commander-in-chief, aboard his temporary flagship the dreadnaught New Mexico, gave no hint of their nature.

About 400 fighting airplanes were with the battle forces, including the squadrons aboard the carriers Lexington, Saratoga and Langley.

The main battle line comprised 12 heavy cruisers, 6 light cruisers, 8 heavy submarines and 28 destroyers.

It was indicated that Admiral Reeves will maneuver the fighting forces as a single high seas fleet unit, rather than the customary tactical exercise of dividing the vessels into two forces, each under command of a fleet commander in a problem embracing the search and combat functions of two fleets.

Country Doctor In Heroic Role

Chicago, Feb. 10.—(P)—The country doctor assumed an heroic role today in the snow-stymied midwest.

A Chadwick, Ill. physician hired a truck and 12 shovelers in an attempt to answer a call four miles away. Midway, the party met a hobbled bearing the stricken woman. She was transferred to the truck and borne back to the town.

A Sterling, Ill. practitioner spent five hours on a laborious round trip to a home two and a half miles distant.

It required eight hours for a nurse to travel eight miles to reach a patient from Milledgeville, Ill. She changed the horse on her sled twice. Two infants were born without medical aid in Minnesota.

PENSION COMMISSIONERS

Tuscola, Ill., Feb. 10.—(P)—County Judge H. C. Helm today appointed A. L. Houk, former Tuscola postmaster, George Spicer of Hindsboro, and H. E. Hood of Arthur to serve as old age pension commissioners of Douglas county as provided in the new pension act passed recently by the legislature.

BANDITS WEAR WHISKERS

Bartlesville, Okla., Feb. 10.—(P)—Robbers—not amateur detectives—were the false whiskers here.

Police were told today that three armed men using the false foliage to conceal their identities held up a store at nearby Glen Oak, obtaining $12.

NEW ELECTRIC NEEDLE WILL RESTORE LIFE

Restarts Hearts In Persons Who Died Suddenly

By Howard W. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Editor
Copyright, 1936.

By The Associated Press
New York, Feb. 10.—(P)—A new electric needle which restarts hearts that have stopped from Angina Pectoris, coronary thrombosis, electrocution and shock and restores to life persons officially "dead" was announced here tonight.

As an example of its possibilities the death of "Roxie" Samuel Rothafel, was cited. Had the new needle been available soon after his heart stopped the radio entertainer might be alive today. He would still have his heart ailment, but no worse than before an untimely stoppage cut his life so abruptly.

The new needle was announced by Albert S. Hyman, M. D., speaking at the fifth Carolina Greenwood lecture, held jointly by the section on aviation medicine of the medical department, U. S. Naval service of the third district and of the Witkin foundation for the study and prevention of heart disease.

This needle is a development of the "pacemaker" needle announced by Dr. Hyman about three years ago. The new one uses a different kind of electrical current to start hearts. With all equipment, it is only the size of a hand flashlight and runs on a single dry cell battery. The old needle required 40 pounds of equipment.

In Angina pectoris and coronary heart troubles, the types of heart disease which kill many of the leaders of business, industry and government, the new needle offers its best opportunity for advances.

Between 150 and 200 of these two types of heart disease, Dr. Hyman said, have been restored to life after the heart had stopped.

The needle and current do not cure the cause of the trouble. But they make a heart start beating again and in many cases the heart once restarted keeps on going for months or years.

This quality of the heart has been thoroughly proved in cases of death by shock, particularly of the person who stands on a wet bathroom floor reaches for the electric light fixture and receives a fatal shock. This needle and particularly its predecessor have restored to life nearly 1,000 persons in the United States who had "died" like that either of electrical or other causes.

Haile Selassie Returns From Battle Field

Great Secrecy Surrounds His Activities During Past Week

By Albert W. Wilson
Associated Press Foreign Staff
Addis Ababa, Feb. 10.—(P)—Emperor Haile Selassie was reliably reported today to have returned to Addis Ababa after spending many weeks in his field headquarters at Dessalegn, bombed again Sunday by the Italians.

He made several flights last week, including one to the Sidamo region in the south to confer with his son-in-law, Ras Desta Demeu, in command of troops in that area.

The greatest secrecy surrounded his activities during the past week, but his departure from Dessalegn was disclosed by well informed sources in the wake of yesterday's bombardment.

An Ethiopian communiqué said one person was killed and five injured in the Dessalegn raid.

Two bombs, the government said, were aimed at a Dutch Red Cross ambulance.

Italian newspapers carried dispatches dated Dessalegn saying hundreds of Ethiopians were killed in the raid and that Haile Selassie personally directed defense of the city.

(Two Ethiopian airplanes were destroyed, the Fascist dispatches said, and the emperor's palace destroyed part of the military unarmament and set woods surrounding Dessalegn on fire.)

Congress Starts Work on Biggest Army Appropriation Bill in Peace-Time History

By The Associated Press
Congress started work on the biggest army appropriation bill in peacetime history.

Actual military funds totalling $388,782,232 were requested, with $168,359,985 more for non-military purposes.

Budget bureau requests were exceeded in funds suggested for the Pacific defenses.

The bill would provide a regular army enlisted strength of 150,000, with 555 more airplanes and an expanded national guard.

Spurred by an army warning that these are "troubled times," the House planned to pass the measure within two days.

By Frank B. Harper

Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Feb. 10.—(P)—A peacetime record call for army funds, aimed at a heavy strengthening of the western defenses as part of an actual military expenditure totalling $388,782,232, today was started through the House.

Warned by the army high command that these are "troubled times in the world," and told by their own committee that "a larger military budget for 1937 was inevitable," House leaders planned to rush the huge ap-

PROPRIATION BILL TO THE SENATE BY TOMORROW NIGHT.

Included in the measure also were curtailed provisions for $168,359,985 in non-military expenditures for rivers and harbors, bringing the total well above the half billion mark. New funds for actual military spending would be stepped $23,803,501 above those for the current fiscal year.

The national defense picture contemplated by the huge measure encompassed:

Increase in the regular army enlisted personnel to 150,000.

Addition of 5,000 officers and men to the national guard to bring this branch of the defense to 300,000 with increased allowances for artillery and aviation equipment.

The spending of $45,540,177 on new regular army airplanes, providing 555 more planes, plus replacement parts for the corps.

The spending of nearly $7,000,000 more than was originally contemplated on strengthening of the defenses on the west coast, Hawaii and the Panama Canal.

The measure, upon which debate immediately was initiated today, resulted from extensive hearings, field commanders from Hawaii, Panama and the west coast were called in to testify privately on defense needs in the Pacific.

Defendant Offers Barbershop Alibi As His Defense

Isadore Blumenfeld On Witness Stand At Murder Trial

Minneapolis, Feb. 10.—(P)—A claim to a barbershop alibi and six crisp words of denial were Isadore Blumenfeld's defense today to the state's charge he murdered publisher Walter Liggett.

As a thronged courtroom watched, the dapperly dressed former bootlegger took the witness stand in his own defense and replied to his counsel's question whether he had anything to do with the slaying.

"Not a thing in the world,"

A moment later, queried as to whether he was in the neighborhood of the Liggett apartment December 9, when a machine gunner killed the newspaperman, the witness responded:

"No, sir."

Blumenfeld's own account of his movements the afternoon of December 9 was a virtual repetition of that of previous defense witnesses who placed him in a downtown barbershop from 5:30 or 5:35 p. m. to 6:30, or 6:35 p. m. Liggett was killed at 5:41 p. m.

About that time, the witness testified he was discussing the Bruno Hauptmann case with a manicurist in the barbershop.

After being picked up by police shortly after the assassination, Blumenfeld testified, he gave them a statement and demanded to be taken before Mrs. Liggett. She had named him as the slayer to police almost at the same time. His request was not granted, the witness said.

The reference to the statement brought a demand from defense counsel that the state produce the statement to police. But Fred Pike, chief of the prosecuting staff, denied having it.

TOWN QUARANTINED

Tovey, Ill., Feb. 10.—(P)—This mining community of 400 persons, lacking a resident physician, was under a county quarantine order tonight following an epidemic wave of four diseases.

Christian county authorities ordered the quarantine ban after scarlet fever, whooping cough, pink eye and mumps reached epidemic proportions.

Schools were closed and all public gatherings were prohibited.

MITCHELL ILL.

New York, Feb. 10.—(P)—Breadwinner General William (Billy) Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service, who is seriously ill at doctors' hospital was reported tonight as "slightly improved." His illness followed an attack of influenza suffered several weeks ago, which weakened his heart.

PITTMAN-LEWIS ASSAIL RUSSIAN, JAP INTENTIONS

Advocate Dominating Air, Naval Forces For U. S.

By D. Harold Oliver
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Feb. 10.—(P)—In a scorching attack on Japanese policy in China, Senator Pittman (D. Nev.) today advocated "dominating" naval and air forces for the United States.

The foreign relation committee's chairman charged in a formal address that Japan had violated the nine-power Pacific treaty to respect China's territorial integrity.

His remarks quickly brought Senator Lewis (D. Ill.) to his feet with a forecast of a Russo-Japanese alliance for control of Asia and exclusion of Americans from that continent.

Ambassador Hiroo Saito declined to comment directly on Pittman's speech, but told reporters Japan has "no intention of closing the door of commerce in China to the United States or any other nation."

"The Japanese story added that 'our interests broadly and generally are not at variance.' He laughed when informed of Lewis' warning."

"That is something new and novel," Saito said. "Up to now all the talk has been about the possibility of war between Russia and Japan. I do not, of course, expect that."

Secretary Hull immediately emphasized to newsmen that the state department did not intend to accept responsibility for Pittman's speech. He said he had not read it but that "there has been as regards his speech no consultation or collaboration between him and me."

Pittman declared that Japanese "propaganda" were "apparently attempting to influence the good peace-loving people of this country through deceptive articles and threats of war."

He added:

"Of course, congress will not be bulldozed into the abandonment of our national defense, the protection of our legitimate foreign trade, or our commerce with China, a friendly nation that is at peace with us and the rest of the world."

Newspaper Tax Invalidated By Supreme Court

Louisiana Law Was Passed During Regime Of Late Huey Long

By Melbourne Christerson
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Feb. 10.—(P)—Unanimously championing continued freedom of the press, the supreme court today invalidated a Louisiana newspaper tax imposed during the late Huey P. Long's regime.

A strongly worded opinion read by Justice Sutherland held the levy imposed on large publications was a "deliberate and calculated device" to restrict the "circulation of information."

Citing the nation's constitutional guarantee of a free press, the court added that the Louisiana tax was "suspicious" in form, and levied with the "plain purpose of penalizing publishers."

(The tax law—passed in 1934 at Long's request—required publishers, both newspaper and magazine, with a circulation of 20,000 or more weekly to pay the state 2 percent of gross receipts from their advertising.)

The newspapers, magazines and other journals of the country, it is said to say, "Sutherland said, 'have shed and continue to shed more light on the public and business affairs of the nation than any other instrumentalities of publicity; and since informed public opinion is the most potent of all restraints upon misgovernment, the suppression or abridgement of the publicity afforded by a free press can not be regarded otherwise than with grave concern.'"

The tax here involved is bad not because it takes money from the pockets of the appellees. If that were all, a wholly different question would be presented. It is bad because, in the light of its history and of its present setting, it is seen to be a deliberate and calculated device in the guise of a tax to limit the circulation of information to which the public is entitled in virtue of the constitutional guarantees.

Illinois Central Is 85 Years Old

Chicago, Feb. 10.—(P)—The Illinois Central railroad celebrated today the 85th anniversary of its chartering by the State Legislature in 1851.

The Legislature authorized a group of distinguished New York and Boston financiers to build a railroad from Cairo on the Ohio river to the northwest corner of the state, opposite Dubuque, Ia., with a "branch" line to Chicago. The Lake Michigan port then had a population of 29,000. The distance, 705 miles, was twice that of any railroad then existing in America. The Illinois Central system now embraces a network of more than 7,600 miles of track through the Central States.

Strange Pekin Case

From Pekin, scene of the recent strike disturbances, comes a story that is a queer sequel to the only shooting that took place during that trying time. Last Wednesday, Clarence Rupp, a non-union cab driver, was shot as he was about to enter his home. He was shot in the chest, and was taken to the hospital. Authorities blamed the incident on strikers because Rupp's cab drivers had carried food to beleaguered employees in Pekin plants that were being picketed.

Had Rupp stayed in the hospital, all might have went well; but he got out Friday, unusually soon for a man with such a serious wound. On Sunday his brother-in-law shot and killed Rupp, putting four bullets into his body. The assailant readily admitted the shooting, explaining that Rupp was going to the hospital to shoot his wife, sister of the attacker.

Authorities have now found that the bullets used in both shootings were of the same calibre, and they are wondering if strike trouble was really to blame for the first attack. At the time Rupp was wounded, his condition was thought serious. The fact that he left the hospital, only to meet death two days later, is the unusual part of this story.

Tons of Flowers

Literally tons of flowers were poured into Windsor Palace in tribute to King George V. The royal family had the wreaths and cut flowers spread on the lawns so that the public might view them. They had come from all parts of the empire.

One question whether such a lavish display was prudent; yet when the tributes grew in number beyond the actual simple needs for funeral decorations, something had to be done about it. Senders of flowers often wonder what becomes of their tributes and are naturally interested in their disposition.

In order that all who sent flowers might be duly recognized, the display was made. It was, after all, an indication of the high esteem in which the king was held by his people.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Occasional Touch of Comedy Makes Capital Life More Endurable . . . Maverick of Texas Deft With Ridicule . . . He Deplores Denial of Liberty League Doctrines to Poor Indians.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—Into the burly-burly, the constant strain, and the partisan bitterness of the capital, there sometimes comes a touch of comic relief which greatly relieves the tension of life here.

Much of the comedy is unconscious. Frequently it is Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas who introduces such wit and humor as is obtained by design. Maverick has an idea that laughter and ridicule are important weapons.

Thus, when Maverick defended the Indian Bureau against an attack led by McGonaghy of California which had slashed the bureau's salary budget from $600,000 to $250,000, the Texan mixed in his hard facts and refutations with—

"I looked through records last night and studied about Indians, and dreamed about them. Some of them scalped me in my sleep, but it was only a dream. Let us not consciously and while wide awake scalp the Indians."

What! Cheat the Indians?
Scott of California then introduced an amendment to forbid teaching or advocating the legislative program of the American Liberty League in Indian schools.

"I rise as the champion of the freedom of speech in defense of the American Liberty League," said Maverick. "Does the gentleman mean to tell me he intends to deny the pure doctrines of James M. Beck and his pal, Newton Baker, who received $50,000 to decide the TVA, he came into court, and the doctrines of other impeachable and self-righteous citizens for the du Ponts and the holding companies, from being taught to our Indian children?"

"Does the gentleman mean he would prevent the teaching to the Indian children of the doctrine of Mr. 'Sixty Grand' Shouse, who gets salary and 'allowable expense' of $60,000 a year? Indians know a lot about horses—they probably know about Twenty Grand—but they should know the du Pont horse known as Sixty Grand."

"I get sick over all this name-calling; I am only calling names so I can get in the swim. It sounds as foolish as when Al Smith yelled about the road to Washington and the road to Moscow."

"In passing, I would remind my Republican friends, and some of my others, that when Benedict Arnold walked out on America to the British, on the British side there was applause and loud cheering. But it did not last long; the British soon had sick faces, and got sick of Arnold, too, and he looked like a poor, hungry, deserted prairie dog, neither fish, fowl, nor animal, with no friends this side of paradise."

"No, Mr. Scott, I would let even the Liberty League talk. Would you deny these gentlemen who claim to be sole guardians of the Constitution the right also to be guardians of our Indian children?"

A Departure in Reports
Probably destined to become famous as a departure from the routine, dull committee reports is Maverick's one-man minority report against the bill permitting certain American officials to accept medals bestowed on them by some Latin American governments.

"Had I earned a foreign medal in the late war against the German Imperial Government," said he in the printed report, "when we entered the war to end wars—there now being no wars and with democracy thriving everywhere throughout the world—I suppose I should have worn it. But this bill ought to be defeated."

Congress can legislate and debate on medals and titles of nobility. This should give us pride. It appears we cannot legislate on the welfare of those who live from the soil—and all humanity does—for that is a mere local matter—hence, the welfare of 125,000,000 people is not within our scope. "Nor can we provide naturally even for minimum decent labor standards to protect states as against each other, or for millions of workers on whose lives and purchasing power the welfare of the nation, and business, depends."

"But we can dress our officers in foreign medals from foreign governments; and that proud power we must jealously guard, and if we permit, our powers to be usurped, as appears likely, we can devote much of our time to decorations. Thus we can pass our time.

"Unless we assert ourselves, we shall become a decoration ourselves. We shall cease to be meddlers—interfering with the prerogatives of the Mystic Nine—and become medallers."

A Sarcastic Ending
After that much sarcasm, Maverick proposed a foreign decoration for every farmer, every unemployed person, every starving person, that they may "die in glory." And, "For Every Unfortunate Citizen—a Medal," since "it's probably unconstitutional to give them anything to eat, whereas Congress clearly has the bemodelling power."

Kappa Beta Delta Fraternity Meets

Members Have Supper and Program; Base Toasts on Flower Theme

The Kappa Beta Delta Fraternity held its quarterly banquet Sunday evening at 6:30 in the Blue Room of the Peacock Inn.

Elmer Lukeman presided over the evening's festivities as toastmaster, the treasurer of the society, Vernon Weaver extended the welcome to the members. The group then joined in the singing of several songs including the "Kappa Beta Delta Loyalty," the official song. The minutes of the last banquet and meeting were read by Maurice Lair, the secretary.

The theme of the banquet and speeches was "Flowers" and was delightfully and humorously carried out in the three toasts of the evening: "Pansies," "Lilies," and "Daisies," given by Harlan A. Eyre, C. Robert Leach and James M. Johnson respectively.

During the business session which was presided over by the president, Mr. Leach, it was decided that the next quarterly meeting which is to be held May 10 will be a very delightful dinner-dance. The committee to be in charge of this gala affair will be announced later.

The banquet table was decorated in keeping with the flower theme with a bouquet of flowers as the centerpiece, augmented by tall blue candles. The color scheme of blue and gold was used very effectively. Place cards of a flower design and blue menu-program cards tied with blue and gold cord in harmony with the decorations were at each table.

Following the singing of the "Kappa Beta Delta Loyalty" the meeting was adjourned.

Others in attendance were George Brown, Jr., Willis T. Frank, Earl Rabjohns, Howard Davenport, John C. Mullenix and F. Dixon Benson.

Unusual Bargains Are Offered by Merchants For Dollar Day Here

Today is Dollar Day. People residing within the large Jacksonville trade area know exactly what this announcement means. They anticipate these big Dollar Day sales put on by local merchants. Shoppers know that Dollar Day means that they will find in local stores an abundance of low-priced merchandise, bargains designed to meet every need and desire and to fit every pocketbook.

It is with full understanding of the spirit in which the buying public accepts and appreciates Dollar Day that merchants of this city are encouraged to stage these sales from time to time. They are pleased to offer shoppers another Dollar Day today.

Owing to the unusual cold weather sales have been slow, and merchants have on hand large stocks of goods they must unload before filling their shelves with new spring merchandise. They are giving the shoppers a double advantage in advertising at this time a large assortment of articles which would have been sold at higher prices under normal conditions. The fact that this Dollar Day sale is being held at this time should bring the shoppers to this city in unprecedented crowds.

Sunday morning when he was struck by a large automobile transport at the intersection of South Main and Morton streets.

Young Tremier, who is a nephew of Mrs. Edward T. White, 774 South Church street, with whom he resides, was on his sled at the time of the accident. The transport was headed east, and the driver did not stop. Witnesses to the accident said they did not believe the driver was aware of the boy's injury.

One of the rear dual wheels of the transport struck the boy's leg, narrowly missing his body. He stumbled to the curb and was picked up by attendants at a filling station who saw the near tragedy.

The boy was taken to Our Saviour's hospital where he was attended by Dr. W. P. Duncan. An x-ray picture showed that the knee-cap is chipped. The leg is badly bruised and the ligaments torn.

After receiving treatment at the hospital young Tremier was taken home, but will return for further examination.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUBJECT IS "SPIRIT"

"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 9.

The Golden Text was "The Spirit searcheth all things, yea the deep things of God" (1 Cor. 2:10).

Among the citations which composed the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters" (Genesis 1:1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In the vast forever, in the Science and truth of being, the only facts are Spirit, and its innumerable creations. Darkness and chaos are the imaginary opposites of light, understanding, and eternal harmony; and they are the elements of nothingness" (p.479).

Veteran Labor Man Well Known Here

Col. Samuel Pascoe Recognized at U.M.W.A. Convention, Has Relatives in City

One of the veteran delegates to the recent convention of the United Mine Workers held in Washington, was Col. Samuel Pascoe of Peoria, who has been with the union since its founding in 1890, and is known as one of the "old originals." He is a brother-in-law of George A. Harry of this city. Col. Pascoe frequently visits his relatives here, and was in the city only a short time ago.

The Washington Star, seeking convention features, interviewed Col. Pascoe. He spoke in favor of the new plan of industrial unionism as against craft unionism, saying that the old idea is out of date. He maintained that the new plan gives equal rights to all workers in an industry and will lift the general living standards and working conditions of the mass of the people.

Col. Pascoe also said that, in view of the recent Supreme Court NRA and AAA decisions, he thought the constitution would have to be amended.

Is It Fair to Blame The Women, If Young Men Can't Find Jobs?

By Mrs. Penrose Lyly

"NOT Society, but the female of the species, is making either gigolos or criminals of our American men."

A reader in the west wrote that in a letter. She has a son and resents the way young women are crowding the men out of jobs, being willing to take smaller salaries because they do not have to put aside money in view to becoming the head of a family.

In some respects this bitter letter is both unjust and one-sided, but it repeats what many mothers have written. It is worth reading in part, because it reveals a growing underlying resentment by mothers against the young woman in business today.

She says her son graduated from high school in 1932, then began the hunt for a job.

"For three years he has hunted for work," she writes. "Day after day being pushed down, ambition deadened and hope—was it destroyed or just killed outright?"

"Coming home each night utterly discouraged, he would always have the same answer—they said a woman would take the job for less money, or else they were employing women now in the places men used to hold.

"If we women are determined to take the best (and a few men seem willing to give it to us) are the men of the country all going to be either on the dole or digging post holes or sweeping streets? What kind of future for the American family if women's respect for decent maleness is nothing? Can you blame men very much, particularly these young men, if they turn to crime?"

"Today, we women are smug and over-satisfied with ourselves. We are placing our rights against the young men's opportunity to exist, to win enough security to marry and raise a family. We reap what we sow, and I think women will regret their lack of social consciousness before many more years.

"Give our young lads just the chance to prove worthy. They haven't that chance today largely because of women in business. We women are helping to destroy the foundation of the American home."

You may not agree with all she writes. But you must face the fact that the plight of young men in their late teens and early twenties is today a serious social problem.

MAKE THESE BRIGHT TIE-BACKS FOR LIVING ROOM CURTAINS

THESE colorful crocheted tie-backs are really handsome. Why not make a pair for the living room windows?

Use mercerized crochet cotton, size 10. You need 2 balls each of black and sport green, and a steel crochet hook No. 5 or No. 6.

With green, make ch about 19 inches long, turn.

1st row: 2-tr cluster in 7th ch from hook, * ch 4, 2-tr cluster in next st, skip 4 sts, 2-tr cluster in next st, repeat from * across. Fasten off and attach black. Ch 1, turn.

2nd and 3rd rows: S c in each st across, ch 1, turn. Fasten off and attach green, ch 6, turn.

4th row: * 2-tr cluster in next s c, skip 4 sts, 2-tr cluster in next st, ch 4, repeat from * across, ch 6, turn.

5th and 6th rows: 2-tr cluster at joining of tips of clusters of row below, * ch 4, 2-tr cluster in same place, 2-tr cluster at joining of tips of next group, repeat from * across.

Ch 6, turn. Fasten off, attach black. Ch 1, turn.

7th and 8th rows: S c in each st across, ch 1, turn. Fasten off. Attach black at foundation ch and work a row of s c along other side of ch, ch 1, turn, and work another row of s c, then ch 6, turn.

Next row: Skip 3 s c, d c in next, * ch 3, skip 3 sts, d c in next, repeat from * across. Fasten off.

To make fringe, wind thread 12 times around a 4-inch cardboard. Cut at lower edge and knot through 1st sp at lower edge of tie-back. Make fringe for each sp.

Square Motif: With green, ch 8, join sl st to form ring.

1st rnd: Ch 3 (to count as d c), 3 d c in ring, * ch 5, 4 d c in ring, repeat from * 2 more times, ch 5, join with sl st to ch-3. Fasten off and attach black.

2nd and 3rd rnds: S c in each st around, and in 3rd st of each ch-5 work 1 s c, ch 1, 1 s c in same st. (This forms a square.) Fasten off and attach green at center of one side.

4th rnd: Ch 4 (to count as tr), tr in same st from which ch started, * ch 4, 2-tr cluster in next st, 2-tr cluster in st before corner st, ch 5, 2-tr cluster in corner st, ch 5, 2-tr cluster in next st, skip 4 sts, 2-tr cluster in next st, repeat from * around, join with sl st.

5th and 6th rnds: Ch 4 (to count as tr), tr in same st from which ch-4 started, ch 4, 2-tr cluster in same place, 2-tr cluster in st before corner cluster, ch 5, 2-tr cluster in corner cluster, ch 5, 2-tr cluster in next st.

Continue as before. (6th rnd will have 1 more group on each side.) Fasten off and attach black. 7th and 8th rnds: S c in each st around, making in corner sts, s c, ch 1, s c in same st.

Fasten off. Sew to tie-back as in illustration.

For a Queen of Hearts!

THEY are lovely, aren't they? Yes, both the girls and the clothes. You might think they were created by St. Valentine for the feast day of all young lovers.

Lisa des Renaudes created the sumptuous bedjacket. The quilted design is in diamonds, made of satin celanese panne, and is cut in exact replica of a man's smoking jacket. She did the regal quilt, too, using taffeta with a deep border, and those luxurious pillows are hers, done in trapunto quilting, which is so much the rage nowadays.

All by hand, all with extravagant beauty in mind, these aids to charm are in the most modern and advanced tradition.

Behold the sweetheart of a dress on the other fair Valentine, shown below. Janet Hollander designed it, using pure silk for the two-piece model. Note those lovely hearts which make the pockets and those button hearts down the blouse. It comes in marina green, sunset and petal rose and is surely the thing to wear on St. Valentine's Day—or any other day when youth and charm are needed.

YES, FLOWERS ARE STILL FINE MESSENGERS FOR CUPID

DO you love her? Then tell her so on Valentine's Day with flowers. There will be bleeding hearts—those delicate pink symbols of tremendous passion—in your florist's. Not really in season, but florists are now forcing them for use on February 14th. Science is thus made to serve the cause of love.

Irene Hayes, noted for her original uses of flowers, has these other timely suggestions for puzzled boy friends:

"She will most certainly like a Victorian nosegay. Your florist will make you up a lovely bouquet of old-fashioned flowers, including very tiny rosebuds. All the flowers used should be small, rather coy, very ladylike and in the manner of Victorian misses. It's very, very smart now to pretend to be Victorian, you know.

"Does it seem to you that your lady love is more devoted to her dog than to you? Well, then get a nice clean bone and fasten a bunch of fragrant flowers to it. Send this to the dog-fancier with love to her, also to her dog. You will be surprised how well-received your double-barreled shot of affection will be."

Miss Hayes favors small bouquets attached to lovely lacy Valentines. This revives the old-fashioned Valentine in all its charm and provides a lovely floral tribute as well.

"They make beautiful gifts, appropriate and somewhat different," she believes. "You might make your own lacy Valentine and inscribe such a message as this in your own handwriting. Shakespeare wrote this many, many years ago. It is still to the point:

*What is love? 'tis not hereafter;
Present mirth hath present laughter;
What's to come is still unsure:
In delay there lies no plenty;
Then come kiss me, sweet-and-twenty,
Youth's a stuff will not endure.*

TO KEEP YOUR SKIN LOVELY

THERE'S a new stimulating cream which was made to activate circulation of the blood in the skin. The quicker the blood circulates, that much more quickly does the skin throw off impurities and become clear.

You apply this cream all over the face and throat after a thorough cleansing and leave it on until the face glows. Then you remove it with tissues and use an emollient cream. The results are rather relaxing, refreshing and particularly for a fallow skin, enlivening. It is made by a reliable American manufacturer.

There's a new town and country make-up film, for use in winter weather in the city or in the hills, which keeps the harsher effects of cold winds from turning your face a lively red. It was tried out first in England and proved popular with English women. It comes in two shades, terra cotta and peach bloom, and the oil in it does kind things to your complexion.

Do you like gardenia fragrance? Have you tried the new gardenia eau de cologne? It's true to its name and is pleasant for after the bath and other toilet uses. Not expensive, it will answer your perfume needs as well, if you don't expect too much of its lighter fragrance.

IF YOU'LL BE GIVING A VALENTINE PARTY

ARE you planning a party for February the 14th? Remember—this is leap year. There must be several gay favors which the girls can give the boys—yes, now it's the girl's turn to do the giving, the hoping and the asking.

The dashing young skier shown here is a welcome novelty. He is made of spool wire and crepe paper and he stands, not upon the snow, but upon a bright red cardboard heart. You could make a smart young dandy of the same material to stand beside him.

Behold the Pink Lady—yes, in pink taffeta and a picture hat. How would she be for a prize for the Valentine Bridge or for other games? Just a boudoir doll at heart, perhaps, but what an appeal. She holds in her taffeta lap a large heart full of candies. Perhaps that's just a suggestion for the swain who is wondering what form of Valentine to send.

Now for the main setting of the table. How do you like that fantastic crepe paper clown, brazenly shouting out "I Love You"? Inside his jolly form are many suitable small gifts, and to each is attached a ribbon which leads suggestively to the heart-shaped place cards. Each plate mat is a large red cardboard heart and the candles stand in red and white clusters of paper flowers. Pleasant set-up, and very inexpensive.

For supper, try this menu. Clear tomato bouillon, hot in cups, with salted crackers, chicken salad and hot baking powder biscuits, crab-apple jelly and Valentine cakes and perhaps a raspberry ice, nuts, motto candies and coffee.

Bucket Brigade at Chandlerville Puts Out Fire in Store

Forty Men and Women Save Aney Establishment; Fire Engine Freezes

Chandlerville—A volunteer brigade of between 40 and 50 men and women successfully fought a fire early Sunday morning which threatened to destroy the Aney Drug store here, after the town's fire apparatus was rendered useless twice by the ten below zero temperature. Damage was estimated at $300.

Working nearly two hours to subdue the flames which worked under a triple layer floor in the stock room of the drug store, the fire-fighters braved hardship to save the store and the entire block in which it is located. The Masonic hall on second floor was damaged by smoke.

The alarm was sounded about 6 o'clock by Sam Hall, night watchman from the Market Hardware store. He smelled burning pine and investigated to find the floor of the drug store stock room on fire.

The fire engine was brought out and put into operation, but it froze up and would not work. It was thawed out at a nearby garage, but another delay followed when the hose became frozen and had to be thawed. Meanwhile, the gathering crowd grabbed buckets from the hardware store and got down to business.

Three times the bucket brigade thought it had the best of the flames, but the fire flared up in new places. From 6 to 8 o'clock the fight went on, more volunteers joining the battle.

The floor in the drug store stock room consisted of three sections, making a difficult spot for the water to penetrate.

Mrs. Gretchen Aney is manager of the drug store, assisted by her father, Dr. J. G. Franken and Clifford Collins, clerk. The building is owned by H. A. Clegg.

This is the third time the business block surrounding the drug store has been damaged by fire. The building was covered with insurance.

Average Paycheck For Big League Ball Players is on Upgrade 1936 Figures Show

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The average pay check for major league ball players is on the upgrade but there is a sharp contrast today with the situation in the "higher brackets" five years ago.

Less than a dozen of the game's leading managers and players will receive $20,000 or more for 1936, an Associated Press survey indicates. There were at least twice that number getting as much or more in 1931.

The New York Yankees still have the top man, Joe McCarthy's managerial contract is understood to call for $35,000 yearly but this compares with $80,000 that Colonel Jacob Ruppert paid his famous slugger, Babe Ruth, for each of the Babe's two peak salary years, 1930 and 1931.

Here's a comparison of the "top ten" on the salary lists of 1931 and 1936, based mainly upon semi-official figures:

1931	1936

With Sam Braden's cashbox closed, all of Branch Rickey's wins could add but one veteran for the coming season. Pitcher Leroy Parmelee from the New York Giants.

The call for reinforcements that went out to the team's far-flung farm system brought 15 prospects. How well they'll fare under the big top is the make-or-break problem.

Without them, the Red Birds go into the National League fray in this situation: One veteran for each outfield and infield position, including behind the bat.

On the mound, there's the Deans-Dizy and Paul-with Parmelee to make it a possible "Big Three," but the rest of the veterans staff is in-and-out.

Help will have to come from this group of recruits: Mike Ryba, who won 20 and lost 8 last season with Columbus; Herbert Moore, Asheville, Wesleyan, victor in eight conference games and the only member of the league that has routed all opposition, will play two games this week, invading Bradley Wednesday night and Illinois College Saturday.

Aided by a wealth of strong reserves, Coach Harry Bell has fashioned, in his first year at Wesleyan, an organization that has met, and conquered the best in the conference. State Normal and Southern Teachers have been handed their only defeats by Wesleyan.

Capt. Jack Horenberger, Willard Benson and Jim Walker alternate at the guard positions, assuring at least one capable performer in reserve.

The district tournament here, which at first sight didn't seem to offer much in the way of competition, promises now to be one of the warmest in the state. That's rather a wide statement, but there are at least four teams fighting for three places, and if that doesn't bring out some competition of the first class, we're all wrong.

Those four teams probably will come out of Virginia, Franklin, Bluffs and New Berlin. Dopesters can begin sharpening up their pencils to pick a winner out of this group.

"Doc" Ranes, who brings his Mt. Sterling team back here tonight for a game with Jacksonville high, is not growling at all about the fact that he drew Rushville at the Beardstown regional. Ranes' lads almost turned back Rushville in the finals of their tournament, and believe they can do it if given another chance.

Russell Newberry, forward on the Waverly team, is leading the M. S. M. conference scoring race at present. The Waverly tosser, whose teammates have battled their way to second place in the league, has rolled in 80 points in conference play. E. Garrison, Diverson center, is in second place with 71 points.

Illinois College and Millikin will go into their battle at Decatur Thursday night without their centers. Delmar Cox, Millikin pivot man, has been declared ineligible for the remainder of the season as the result of difficulty with some of his college work.

The Big Blue, as Foremost some time ago, also has adopted the freshman rule for the coming year, along with Illinois College, and seven other Little 19 conference teams.

Louis Lasiter, Illinois College center, hoped to get out of the hospital yesterday. His physician said he would tell us if we wouldn't put it in the paper, that it is highly improbable that Lasiter would be able to play any more this year. Just forget you read it.

Lasiter also is considering the advisability of dropping out of college for the second semester, in order to have another semester of basketball. If he decides to drop out, his plans are to enroll again for the last semester of next year. He became ill at the end of the first semester, although he had indicated, by enrolling, that he intended to go ahead.

Cardinals Will Win or Lose 1936 Pennant With Large Bunch of Rookies

St. Louis, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The brilliance of all the stars that stud the St. Louis Cardinals' roster couldn't hide the story it told today.

Pittsfield and White Hall, leaders in their respective divisions of the Illinois Valley conference, each need another win to be sure of at least a tie for the championship, while two victories will clinch the flag for both of them.

Pittsfield has two conference games left with Bluffs and Griggsville, and White Hall has three to go, one with Roodhouse, the only team to defeat them since Murrayville checked them at the start of the season, another with Greenfield and the last one with Carrollton.

The next two weeks will be given over to cleaning up the schedule by all teams, and a number of thrilling battles are on tap. This week leads off with three old rivals, and winds up Friday and Saturday with basketballs flying in more "grudge" affairs.

Although outside the Illinois Valley conference, the game between Ashland and Beardstown tonight takes on special interest in view of the warm rivalry and Beardstown's victory last week-end over Ashland.

On the upswing at present, while Beardstown continues to be an in-and-out team.

Two Illinois Valley games, with Carrollton moving up to Roodhouse, and Griggsville over to Bluffs, are on the schedule, along with the return engagements

Stock Prices
March Forward

By Frank MacMillan.

Associated Press Financial Writer.
New York, Feb. 10.—(P)—Prices marched briskly forward today in the stock market. Steels formed a rapidly moving vanguard for the advance which set new average high levels for nearly 5 years.

The ferrous metal group was firm from the start, and the improvement spread gradually to other sections until, in the final hours, most issues were in demand in active trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, established a zenith since August 29, 1931, at 90.7, with the rail, industrial and utility sections contributing about equally to the result.

A considerable proportion of the activity came in the final hours, the activity much of the day trading was only moderate. Turnover in the stock exchange was 2,465,785 shares, compared with 2,567,550 shares in the previous full session, Friday.

Good gains were dotted through the list at the finish, with many leaders ahead 1 to 3 points, but none showed the consistent strength of the steels, which had the help of several favorable reports from the industry.

Operations were scheduled at 52 per cent of capacity this week, against 50 per cent in the previous week, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute. The same agency reported January production of steel ingots for the industry as the best for the months since 1930. U. S. Steel revealed its shipments of finished steels were higher for January than in any year since 1931.

Chicago Mart
Rather Weak

By John P. Boughan.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—(P)—Acute weakness that developed in Canadian wheat values today tumbled the Chicago market down to quotations current last December before Argentina announced new minimum prices.

Breaks of nearly 3 cents a bushel at Winnipeg indicated that Argentina's action which virtually removed her from the export field has been insufficient to sustain Canadian prices.

On the collapse, all wheat futures at Winnipeg reached a fresh bottom record for the season.

Wheat in Chicago closed unstable at the day's low point 14-15 cents under Saturday's finish, May 97-97 1/2, corn 1-3/4 off, May 60-1, oats at 1-1/4 decline, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2 cents.

Preceding the fall of prices at Winnipeg were cables saying world shipments of wheat last week had been the largest in months, but that Canadian export business remained meager, and that the discount of Australian wheat under Canadian was widening. In this connection, trade forecasts were circulated that if wheat exports from Canada did not increase, Canada would enter next year with as big a carryover as last year.

This outlook, it was contended, would apparently imply the return of overproduction in North America.

Miss Thyra Smith Presents Recital

Program Is Given At MacMurray College Monday By Local Student

A large crowd in MacMurray college music hall last evening heard the senior speech recital of Miss Thyra Smith as she presented her conception of "Jacksonville and Suburbs." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Smith, 239 Finley street. The theme of the program was drawn from "Renaissance," by Edna St. Vincent Millay. Contrasts ranged from the original reading, "El Peasle" to Vachel Lindsay's "The Chinese Nightingale" which was the concluding number, done with lighting and costume effects. The entire presentation was the provincial attitude which exists in a town and its broad influences, the persons who go into many parts of the world to accept a more enlightened point of view.

The program, "Original Monologue—'El Peasle. Who Was Born and Reared in Jacksonville'."

Edgar Lee Masters—'Goodbye the Cooper,' 'Albert Shirling,' 'Jonas Keene,' and 'Ann Rutledge.' Mark Twain—'The Minister's Blunder.' Carl Sandburg—'Clean Curtains.' Ellis Parker Butler—'The Man Who Didn't Go to Heaven on Tuesday.' Lew Saret—'Wind in the Pines.' Sara Teasdale—'The Coln.' Paul Laurence Dunbar—'Angelina.' Vachel Lindsay—'The Chinese Nightingale.'

Miss Smith wore a gown of blue chiffon, with matching corsage and accessories. There were a number of bouquets on the stage which had been given to her before the recital. She is the pupil of Mrs. Marion Chase Schaeffer, of the department of speech at MacMurray. Miss Dorothy Renley is department head.

Throughout her public school and college career, Miss Smith has been foremost as a leader and in dramatic work. She has played a number of leads in college dramatic club presentations, in many of them taking difficult male roles. She finished her academic work at the end of the first semester, and is now employed as a teacher on the faculty of the Chapin High School.

Today is the day when the residents of Jacksonville and surrounding territory should visit the business district.

It's Jacksonville's city-wide Dollar Day, an event that careful buyers always look forward to, but that is of more importance this year because the long continued unseasonable weather has made selling slow and merchants are overstocked.

Old Man Winter has been persistently against them and the time for closing out many lines is long passed. They have therefore been pushed into cutting and slashing their fine stocks of goods as never before, so their loss becomes your gain.

Almost every store in Jacksonville is offering special to offer you for one dollar, or for a dollar discount from their already reduced price.

If not in need of an advertised article at this time, it will prove a real saving to buy now for future use. This is particularly true of foodstuffs, wearing apparel and articles for the home.

The articles offered for sale this Dollar Day are more widely diversified than ever, with a greater number of stores joining in the event.

If you have not already made out your shopping list it will pay you, in time and money saved and in satisfaction gained, to again look over the advertisements in Sunday's Journal and Monday's Courier and prepare a list.

Remember, your dollars will serve you well today in Jacksonville's stores.
